you.

What do I do if my child doesn't want to participate but as a parent I can definitely see a the need for this??

If this is you, let me share a story. Freshman year of high school, my mother saw that I needed a positive outlet, I needed to belong to something. She decided to sign me up for color guard. She literally had to pull me into the color-guard meeting. I did not want anything to do with color guard! I mean, I didn't even know what color guard was! The next thing I knew, I was throwing a flag in the air and hoping I caught it. Fast forward to the end of my season, I loved it! My confidence grew, I felt so proud that I was part of a team. I knew that if I could finish something I at first didn't want anything to do with, I could achieve ANYTHING I put my mind to. I guess the Disney song is correct when it says, "Mothers Know Best!" (and fathers too of course!)

Hands On Science Enrichment of Redding presents a week of science fun! This full day camp will focus on elementary science topics. Your little scientist will perform experiments inside and outside to learn about electricity, magnetism, chemistry, matter anatomy, senses, insects, plants, weather, geology, & aeronautics. The following are just a few of the activities your campers will do; construct an electro-magnet, electro-plate a coin, wire circuits, make silly putty, test chemicals, make chalk, create a submarine, build a bug, meet giant insects, touch real skulls, dig for real fossils, erupt a volcano, and assemble & launch a rocket 1000 feet into the air.
